Executive Summary

El Paso Community Action Program Project BRAVO, Inc. (Project BRAVO) is the designated Community Action Agency (CAA) for El Paso County. We are committed to removing the barriers of poverty by mobilizing resources and promoting self-sufficiency as we strive to make our community a place where families thrive. To help our community, we must first understand the existing factors that contribute towards poverty in the county of El Paso. Project BRAVO conducted a Community Needs Assessment in 2018 to identify the causes and effects of poverty in El Paso County and the priority areas where improvement and resources are most needed.

This report is comprised of data about people living in the county of El Paso and retrieved from various government, national, and local sources. The Community Commons Needs Assessment Tool compiled data from the US Census Bureau, the Department of Labor, and other reliable sources. The City of El Paso Department of Public Health 2-1-1 Call Center provided a data set that contained information from 63,306 residents of El Paso County that called 2-1-1 from January 1, 2017, to December 31, 2017. The data set was evaluated to identify the most common unmet needs in the community per 2-1-1 callers. Project BRAVO also formed a community stakeholder committee and a committee comprised of key staff to develop four survey instruments targeted to key groups: Project BRAVO clients; the public at large who may or may not have received services from Project BRAVO; Project BRAVO employees, members of the Project BRAVO Board of Directors; and community stakeholders which includes non-profits, government agencies, the faith-based community, elected officials, civic groups, for-profit partners in industries that affect low-income families, and other stakeholders with insight on the needs of families in the County of El Paso. Project BRAVO also conducted focus groups to gather qualitative data for the report.

This report identified the top 5 needs for the county of El Paso as the following:

- Access to resources for households to meet basic living expenses
- Access to safe and affordable housing
- Access to affordable healthcare and medical services
- Access to resources for the elderly and people with disabilities
- Access to financial counseling and education

Based on nationally published data, the 2-1-1 data set, and Project BRAVO's survey instruments, the Project BRAVO 2018 Needs Assessment recognizes the major contributors to poverty listed above for residents of El Paso County. It is our mission to use this report to guide our organization and improve our programs and services and better address the needs of our community.

2018 Community Needs Assessment Overview

An assessment was conducted of the needs of low-income and vulnerable populations in the county of El Paso, Texas, by Project BRAVO. Quantitative and qualitative data was gathered for the assessment. The assessment consisted of primary sources of data which are the 2-1-1 Texas Rio Grande Area Information Report provided by the City of El Paso Department of Public Health 2-1-1 Call Center, Project BRAVO's annual Client Satisfaction survey data collected at all centers and by each department, the Project BRAVO Needs Assessment surveys, and focus groups conducted by Project BRAVO staff. Additional data from the previously mentioned Community Commons Needs Assessment Tool and its sources were used to guide the report. The 2018 Community Needs Assessment will be presented to the Board of Directors on December 4, 2018, to direct the development of the 2019 Community Action Program Plan and the 2019 strategic plan.

Methodology

This study was designed and measured in collaboration with Project BRAVO's Executive Department, Management, frontline staff, and the Board of Directors as well as representatives of key organizations in the community. The first stage of planning began on November 7, 2017. After consulting with our Board of Directors, Project BRAVO organized committees that consisted of board members, stakeholders, and staff. The committees supervised the process of developing the 2018 Community Needs Assessment. The data used in this assessment was comprised of the following primary sources:
The 2-1-1 Texas Rio Grande Area Information Center 2017 Report

Data provided by the 2-1-1 Report (2-1-1 Data Set) was collected by phone from January 1, 2017 to December 31, 2017 and provided in a raw format in Microsoft Excel. The 2-1-1 Report consisted of information gathered from 63,306 data points (i.e. phone calls). The data was analyzed to determine validity towards this report and in the end a sample size of 18,725 was used in this study to determine unmet needs. For a population of 833,592 residents in the County of El Paso, a sample size 16,316 is recommended in order to have a margin of error of 1% with a confidence level of 99%, therefore a sample size of 18,725 provided a high confidence level for this study.

“Primary Need” and “Secondary Need” codes were assigned to each call as determined by the “Need Name” field. Whenever necessary, the “Referral Name” field was taken into consideration to assign a Primary/Secondary Need code. There is some overlap on the data because Primary and Secondary Needs often overlap. The Primary Need code was assigned by the type of service that was needed even if it may overlap into a more general need. For example, a call requesting occupational therapy due to a disability was assigned the “Medical Services” Primary Need code even though it may overlap into the “Aging & Disabilities” Primary code. In those cases, the Secondary Need code of “A&D Independent Living” (Aging & Disabilities) code was assigned to provide additional context to the analysis.

Data Limitations

The 2-1-1 Data Set reflects phone calls from residents when they had a specific problem that needed to be addressed. There were several limitations to the 2-1-1 Data Set. The most significant limitation of the 2-1-1 Data Set is that it was not devised as a survey of unmet needs. The data set is an indirect source of information on the needs of low-income and/or vulnerable people in the County of El Paso. A survey could have been developed to analyze a random sample of participants, but the sample size would have been significantly smaller due to cost limitations.

An additional limitation is that participates in this “survey” were individuals who were aware of the 2-1-1 information and referral service. Although 2-1-1 is a well-known resource in the community, there are still individuals in the community that are unaware of this vital service.

Another limitation is that the number of callers and type of information requested was sometimes influenced by factors such as media coverage. For example, twice a year the Extreme Weather Taskforce advertises a program where residents can request blankets or fans in order to better cope with extreme weather. During these times the number of callers with these specific needs would be higher than at other times of the year.

The 2-1-1 Data Set collected data on a call by call basis and so the data does not provide enough information to gauge the urgency of the need. For example, the need for one household requesting after school programs received one data point just like another family’s request for addiction services. In addition, each call only documents one need. Callers may have requested information for multiple needs, but the 2-1-1 Data Set only captured the most prevalent need.
The 2-1-1 Data Set comes from a municipal entity and so some of the calls were not related to the provision of social services. Data was excluded from the analysis if it fell into one of the following categories: there was not enough information to determine the need; the person was calling to report a compliance issue from a stray animal to child abuse; the person wanted to make a donation or volunteer; the person needed an information referral for example, the Social Security office; or the household needed a municipal services.

Finally, the 2-1-1 Data Set has information from people that called during 2017. There is a slight possibility that needs in the community may have changed, but the likelihood is very low.

Data Strengths

There are many benefits to using an indirect source of data such as the one provided by the 2-1-1 Data Set. As mentioned above, the sample size is significant and would not be available to Project BRAVO due to funding and other limitations.

The individuals who called were not influenced to state any particular needs which could happen if a survey tool was provided with limited options or if it was administered by an organization that provides a limited scope of services such as Project BRAVO.

The 2-1-1 data was gathered by phone which means that participants were not limited by geography to participate and so vulnerable populations such as the elderly, people with disabilities, and parents with children participated in the “survey” of unmet needs.

The data was gathered during a full calendar year which means that input takes into account factors that change throughout the year such as changing temperatures, seasonal work, school attendance, payment cycles for work and government benefits, and countless other variables.

Finally, 2-1-1 has tools accessible to communicate with callers who speak other languages than English as well as people with hearing limitations (calls were conducted in at least 20 languages). These resources would not be available to Project BRAVO without significant costs and training.

Despite the limitations listed above, Project BRAVO believes that the benefits of using the 2-1-1 Data Set justify its use as a primary data source. The information gathered offers a unique and reliable window into the needs of the people living in the county of El Paso.
Project BRAVO Annual Client Satisfaction Survey Data

Project BRAVO's Client Satisfaction Survey provides information directly from clients to determine clients’ level of satisfaction with existing services. Information gathered is used to improve operations, facilities, customer service, programs and services, and other departmental functions.

Client Satisfaction Surveys are offered to all clients to fill out after services have been rendered. Project BRAVO management collects, analyzes, and report the data on a timely basis to employees, the Board of Directors, and other stakeholders. Frontline staff educate clients on the importance of the Client Satisfaction Survey to insure the ROMA model is used to guide Project BRAVO’s effectiveness. Signs are also posted prominently at all Centers notifying clients of the opportunity to provide feedback. Staff performing home visits or services in the home have tablets or surveys on hand to provide to the client before they complete their visit so that all clients have the opportunity to provide input on the effectiveness of Project BRAVO services and staff.

Project BRAVO has collected 2,749 surveys within the period of January 2, 2018 to November 1, 2018. The survey provides us with feedback on the programs and services we offer, client needs, and ways in which we can better improve our services in correspondence to our clients' top needs.
Project BRAVO Surveys and Focus Groups

Information was gathered from Project BRAVO's low-income and/or vulnerable clients, community organizations, Project BRAVO staff, and the Board of Directors. The surveys collected demographic information and included a rating scale for respondents to rank community needs by level of importance. The survey period ran from October 22, 2018 through November 2, 2018. The community needs rating scale was designed to reflect the six domains measured for CSBG reporting:

- Employment
- Education & Cognitive Development
- Infrastructure/Income/Asset Building
- Housing
- Health & Social/Behavioral Development
- Civic Engagement/Community Involvement

A total of 175 surveys were collected from paper and online responses. The surveys are designed to assess the needs of Project BRAVO clients which are at a minimum 20,000 per year. The survey tool was in English and Spanish and provided the opportunity for the participant to offer qualitative data. The strength of this survey was that it was offered to all clients that came in for services at Project BRAVO, as well as Project BRAVO staff and board of directors, and community/government organizations who are also familiar with the needs of low-income people in El Paso County. The weakness was that only data could be gathered from respondents who chose to turn in their surveys. Various factors can determine why people participate in surveys such as time constraints, intense satisfaction or dissatisfaction with the service provided, and participant literacy.

Two focus groups were conducted on October 26, 2018, and October 30, 2018, to gather additional qualitative data. The two sessions provided further insight to barriers that exist in the community for low-income families that are struggling to meet their needs.

Summary of Methodology

The 2-1-1 Data Set was the primary source for identifying the top five unmet needs of low-income and/or vulnerable people in the County of El Paso. The Project BRAVO surveys and focus groups were also used to assess the needs of clients that receive services from the organization and other low-income populations in the community. The results attained from the Project BRAVO surveys and focus groups was consistent with the data analyzed from the 2-1-1 Data Set. The population overview provided by the Community Commons Needs Assessment Tool that consolidates U.S. Census Bureau data and other data sources also validated the unmet needs identified by the 2-1-1 Data Set and the Project BRAVO surveys and focus groups.
Key Findings: Top 5 Needs

The following is a list of the top 5 needs as determined by our analysis of data from the sources listed previously in this report.

1. Access to resources for households to meet basic living expenses
2. Access to safe and affordable housing
3. Access to affordable healthcare and medical services
4. Access to resources for the elderly and people with disabilities
5. Access to financial counseling and education
1. Access to resources for households to meet basic living expenses.

The 2-1-1 data along with the supplemental data from the Project BRAVO surveys and focus groups showed that people living in El Paso County faced many difficulties with basic living expenses (6563 calls for basic needs). There were several significant Secondary Needs identified which are listed in the following: 2858 calls for utility assistance (water, gas, electric), 1794 calls for food, 719 calls for transportation, 700 calls for household items/furnishings, and 546 calls for cell phone/telephone. This result is expected due to the compounding effects of lower than average incomes, the high costs of housing, caregiver supports, healthcare, and childcare as identified in this report. Very often families are left with little money to pay for basic needs and so this leads to issues such as non-payment or disconnection of utilities and food insecurity. Data from the Community Commons Needs Assessment Tool points to higher than average food insecurity rates for children living in the county of El Paso as well as households receiving SNAP benefits.

2. Access to safe and affordable housing.

Data from the 2-1-1 Data Set and the supplemental data from the Project BRAVO surveys both pointed overwhelmingly to this issue. The 2-1-1 data presented significant number of callers requesting for rental and mortgage payment assistance (5011 calls out of 18,725 calls). The data below further illustrates that people in El Paso make significantly less income than other families in the State of Texas and the United States. Because of low median incomes for households, the number of households with housing cost burdens exceeding the 30% as recommended by the Department of Housing and Urban Development is relatively high in El Paso County. Qualitative data gathered at one of the focus groups identified a significant barrier for families wishing to public housing. According to a respondent, the local Housing Authority has changed from a consolidated system for receiving applications. The Housing Authority now requires families looking for housing to apply at each complex which is a burdensome process, especially for households with limited resources.

3. Access to affordable healthcare and medical services.

The following census data supports the 2-1-1 data in which people in the County of El Paso need access to affordable healthcare and health insurance (3875 calls for medical services). Some Secondary Needs that stood out are listed in the following: 1049 calls for affordable insurance/medical care, 412 for preventive medical services, 307 calls for mental health services, and 246 calls for substance abuse and addiction services. The County of El Paso has a high percentage of adults who are uninsured when compared to the United States for children and adults. The expansion of Medicaid in Texas is essential in order to effectively meet this need so that everyone in Texas has the same access to health insurance as the rest of the United States. El Paso also ratio of 124 doctors to 100,000 population according to a Paso del Norte Health Foundation report. Statista lists other Texas communities with more favorable ratios which are listed in the following: 253.2 per 100,000 for Houston and 197.2 per 100,000 for Dallas. The deficit of medical professionals adds to the challenges that families face when trying to access medical services.

4. Access to resources for the elderly and people with disabilities.

According to the U.S. Census, the number of people in the County of El Paso living with a disability is higher than that of Texas and the United States and so the high volume of 2-1-1 calls requesting resources for these vulnerable populations is consistent with the data (902 calls listed in Primary Needs, 1,260 listed in related Secondary Needs). In addition, the number of people in the County of El Paso living with disabilities age 65 and older are significantly higher than that of Texas and the United States. Since households have lower median incomes compared to other households in Texas and the U.S. as stated previously, the burden of caring for the elderly and people with disabilities is multiplied. The ability to earn a living wage for people over age 65 as well as people with disabilities is limited and so these individuals often have to be supported by family if government programs do not properly provide for the needs of these vulnerable groups. Data gathered through the focus groups pointed to recent trends of government services like Social Security and SNAP that are reducing benefits whenever the individual declares they received support from other social service agencies such as utility assistance from Project BRAVO.

5. Access to financial counseling and education.

The 2-1-1 Data Set indicated that 861 callers needed some type of financial counseling. These needs covered a vast array of services which are listed in the following: 2,658 calls for rental assistance, 777 calls for VITA and payment of fees/taxes, 35 calls for financial education, 36 calls from people in mortgage default. There previous identified need showing that 6563 households are having difficulty paying for basic needs also illustrates the need for families to work on personal budgeting skills. The focus groups also touched on the need for credit counseling and identity theft services. Navigating these two issues is difficult for any population, but in El Paso many families have educational and language barriers that make it difficult to navigate resources that help people restore their credit after financial hardships or identity theft.

Conclusion

The 2018 Community Needs Assessment identified the following top five needs through analysis of data gathered through the 2-1-1 Data Set, Community Commons Needs Assessment Tool, Project BRAVO client, staff, board and community survey tools, the Project BRAVO client satisfaction survey, and focus groups held with staff and board members.

The needs were then validated through the various sources employed for this analysis. These top five needs are addressed by the 2019 Community Action Program (CAP) Plan.

The 2018 Community Needs Assessment and the 2019 CAP Plan were presented at a public hearing held on November 8, 2018 at 12:00 PM MST. The event was live-streamed on the Project BRAVO Facebook page to make the presentation as accessible to the public as possible. The live-streamed presentation remains accessible to the public on the page and it has reached 99 people as of 6:00 PM MST. Six individuals attended the presentation in person.

Project BRAVO is conducting a Community Needs Assessment as part of the requirements to receive Community Services Block Grant funds from the Texas Department of Housing and Community Affairs. As part of the survey, we are interviewing key stakeholders in the community.

1. What do you know about our Community Action Agency and the services we provide that help address needs of low-income persons?
   (Note: persons that serve on the agency board do not need to answer question #1.)

   N/A Judge Serna serves on Project BRAVO’s Board of Directors.

2. What do you think are the top five key needs of low-income persons in your community?
   The needs could be in the areas of employment, education, income and asset building assistance, housing, health and social behavioral development, emergency assistance/services, helping persons to become self-sufficient, or coordination of services and connecting persons to services, community revitalization, or other needs.

   1. Public Transportation
   2. Affordable Housing
   3. Medical Assistance
   4. Infrastructure
   5. Education

3. What suggestions can you provide on how the needs could be addressed?

   More involvement with the County and community. The County needs to better understand the experiences of our low-income community.

4. What do you think are some key community revitalization needs?

   Improved infrastructure such as improving our roads and sewage systems as well as ensuring buildings are following code compliance.

5. How do you think our community can address the identified community revitalization needs?

   The County and community members need to work together to meet these needs. The issues have to be looked at holistically and not as independent of one another.
6. What do you think are some of the gaps or barriers to services in the community and do you have any suggestions related to this?

   Funding is a barrier for these needs to be met. We need to push more funding towards helping our community.

7. Do you have any other feedback?

   N/A
Project BRAVO is conducting a Community Needs Assessment as part of the requirements to receive Community Services Block Grant funds from the Texas Department of Housing and Community Affairs. As part of the survey, we are interviewing key stakeholders in the community.

1. What do you know about our Community Action Agency and the services we provide that help address needs of low-income persons?
   (Note: persons that serve on the agency board do not need to answer question #1.)

   N/A State Senator Rodriguez serves on Project BRAVO’s Board of Directors.

2. What do you think are the top five key needs of low-income persons in your community?
   The needs could be in the areas of employment, education, income and asset building assistance, housing, health and social behavioral development, emergency assistance/services, helping persons to become self-sufficient, or coordination of services and connecting persons to services, community revitalization, or other needs.

   1) Housing assistance
   2) Education (including financial education)
   3) Employment opportunities
   4) Mental health
   5) Healthcare

3. What suggestions can you provide on how the needs could be addressed?
   More funding from the State and Federal governments would help address most of the needs, but also maximizing the resources our community already has and using them more efficiently. Financial institutions and the private sector could also help address some of the financial education and employment needs, and city leadership could manage better the incentives given to out of town companies to help them stay in our community for the long-run.

   It is disappointing to see businesses come to our community through short-term incentives, but then leave once these incentives are gone. For example, many call centers who shut down unexpectedly, laying off hundreds of workers without an exit strategy.

4. What do you think are some key community revitalization needs?
   Some key community revitalization needs are:
   - Arts and Cultural Development
   - Improve health infrastructure
   - Increase Community Safety

5. How do you think our community can address the identified community revitalization needs?
   Arts and cultural development would bring the community together by educating and uniting El Paso on our shared history. Historic preservation and art-related events would bring business to the community and attract more visitors. Improving health infrastructure for the community to make sure services are readily available and accessible.
The city for example, has worked to provide free WiFi for the community but it is not always reliable and areas in the county don’t have broadband. Local policies can be enacted to adopt a living wage to ensure people can access basic services. Further, issuing municipal ID’s to everyone regardless of citizenship status and adopting proactive policies that support anti-discrimination ordinances will help create a more inclusive community.

6. What do you think are some of the gaps or barriers to services in the community and do you have any suggestions related to this?

Public transportation is probably the biggest barrier to services for our low-income population, followed by childcare, education access and employment hurdles.

7. Do you have any other feedback?

Not at this time.

Community Organization Interviews
Project BRAVO is conducting a Community Needs Assessment as part of the requirements to receive Community Services Block Grant funds from the Texas Department of Housing and Community Affairs. As part of the survey, we are interviewing key stakeholders in the community.

1. What do you know about our Community Action Agency and the services we provide that help address needs of low-income persons?
(Note: persons aware of what the agency does do not need to answer question #1 in the in person interview.)

N/A Bernadette Segura serves on Project BRAVO’s Board of Directors.

2. What do you think are the top five key needs of low-income persons in the community?
The needs could be in the areas of employment, education, income asset building assistance, housing, health and social behavioral development, emergency assistance/services, nutrition, helping persons to become self-sufficient, or coordination of services and connecting persons to services, community revitalization, or other needs.

1) Healthcare access, specifically access to specialists for uninsured people
2) Food access
3) Reliable public transportation
4) Access to more affordable legal assistance
5) Affordable, quality childcare

3. Is your organization currently addressing any of the needs that you identified? If yes, please specify which are being addressed and how?

Access to more affordable legal assistance is a need that connects with what my organization does in our community. We participate and sponsor events such as the Free Legal Clinic event that took place on November 3rd, where we provided free legal aid to Veterans, Active Duty Military Personnel, and their families.
4. How can our agency partner with your organization to address the needs that you identified?

We need to fund studies to better analyze our community and look at the clusters of people who are experiencing substandard living conditions.

5. What do you think are some of the gaps or barriers to services in the community and do you have any suggestions related to this?

Without looking at the big picture, we cannot see why these resources are needed at a lower level. Studies need to be conducted to better understand why low-income people continue to be in these substandard clusters.

6. Do you have any other feedback?

N/A

   N/A Ms. Elke Cumming is familiar with our organization as she serves on our board.

2. What do you think are the top five key needs of low-income persons in the community?
   The needs could be in the areas of employment, education, income asset building assistance, housing, health and social behavioral development, emergency assistance/services, nutrition, helping persons to become self-sufficient, or coordination of services and connecting persons to services, community revitalization, or other needs.

   1) Education
   2) Childcare
   3) Transportation Assistance
   4) Affordable Housing
   5) Access to Affordable Healthcare

3. Is your organization currently addressing any of the needs that you identified? If yes, please specify which are being addressed and how?

   Paso Del Norte Center of Hope works very specifically with human trafficking survivors. In reference to the needs I have identified, my organizations provides services in the areas of education, childcare, transportation, and rental assistance for specifically low-income human trafficking survivors.
4. How can our agency partner with your organization to address the needs that you identified?

Project BRAVO presently helps low-income populations with their GED program, affordable housing, prescription assistance program, and the other resources they offer.

5. What do you think are some of the gaps or barriers to services in the community and do you have any suggestions related to this?

Language barriers - however El Paso has done a good job helping people overcome that barrier. A more prevalent barrier concerns families of mixed status who are fearful of accessing services because they do not want to jeopardize their family even if their children qualify due to the spotlight on immigration issues. Our suggestions are outreach and education and clearly stating to families what their rights are.

Top 5 Needs Per CSBG Service Area

Instructions: This form is to be completed after completing the Top 5 Needs per County form. Complete this form to record the top 5 needs of each county in the service area and to record the final rankings of the top 5 needs for the entire CSBG service area. In determining the final top 5 needs for the service area, take into consideration the poverty population of each county and the number of surveys, interviews, feedback from focus groups and forums, and quantitative data. Retain documentation on your analysis of all data sources and the methods used to come up with the final rankings by county and service area.

For each of the methodologies utilized to assess the needs in the community, rank from 1 thru 5 the needs as identified by the data and or respondents or interviewees or attendees. Then, in the FINAL RANKINGS All Counties row, indicate the final ranking for the top 5 needs for the entire CSBG service area.
